

Worried that you can't afford follow-up care for Breast or Cervical Cancer issues?

Actually, you can't afford not to!

You have a problem. Your health insurance plan covered your breast exam, pap and mammogram, but now you are faced with high out-of-pocket costs for follow-up care.

We have a solution. The Breast and Cervical Cancer Control Navigation Program (BCCCNP) covers follow-up medical costs for women age 40-64 whose household incomes are low to medium (ex: below $30,350 for a single woman, or $62,750 for a family of four.)

Call us to learn how BCCCNP can help you afford follow-up care for breast and cervical health (whether or not you enrolled in an Affordable Care Act plan.)
